Cyviz awarded contract for Military Command Center in South East Asia - NOK 5,8 million (USD 680k)

February 12, 2021

Cyviz announces new contract for Military Command Center in South East Asia. The organization selected Cyviz as the core technology provider due to the proven control room solutions and standardized platform. The goal is to enhance cyber security efforts and workflows using advanced collaboration technology, visualization and data monitoring.

Illustration: Example of a Cyviz room. The Command Center will be interconnected with multiple Cyviz rooms to deliver situational awareness across teams and assets.

Cyviz will deliver a command center connected to adjacent rooms in the building. The combined intelligence will create situational awareness and enable informed decisions in a mission-critical environment. The delivery is planned for Q2 2021.

“The military and defense are some of the most demanding customers when it comes to security and reliability. We have developed software and solutions to address the military needs, and it gives us a competitive edge for anyone complying with strict security requirements and mission-critical operations,” says CEO Espen Gylvik.

The military organization looked for an interconnected solution where multiple teams and resources could collaborate across locations and skillsets. They recognize the benefits of standardizing its solutions to ensure cross-communication and to manage and support the systems. The Cyviz Easy Platform effectively connects the different rooms and enables the delivery of remote support and monitoring to ensure the rooms' availability at any given time.
