Huddlestock has appointed Sabine Merky as new Chief Financial Officer (CFO). Merky will assume the role October 1, 2025. She takes over from Stina Sola Haugland, who has been interim CFO since December 2024.

Merky brings extensive experience from the fintech industry and international growth companies, having held CFO positions and other key finance roles in several companies through high-impact events such as M&As, digital transformations and building scalable financial structures.

"I am very pleased to have Sabine joining the team as our new CFO. She has a strong industry knowledge and expertise from renowned international corporations. These strengths align well with our strategic ambitions, and I am confident Sabine will play a key role in driving Huddlestock's next phase of growth as we advance our position as a leading Investment-as-a-Service provider in Europe", says Leif Arnold Thomas, CEO of Huddlestock.

Merky's background spans both national and international roles in fintech and other IT driven industries, most recently having served as CFO for ZTL Payment Solutions and before that CFO for Polygon Norway AS. She has also been part of the financial team for international corporations such as FIAT Sweden and Siemens IT & Telecommunications.

Stina Sola Haugland will continue to serve as the interim CFO until Merky takes over in October.
