Huddlestock Fintech AS ("Huddlestock" or the "Company"), a leading investment technology and services provider, is proud to announce that its first German Investment-as-a-Service customer, GIGA Broker GmbH ("GIGA Broker"), has soft launched its investment platform to a limited number of German investors. The first products traded on the platform are Cryptocurrencies. During the next months more German investors will be introduced to the platform and the universe of tradeable assets will be included.

"2025 has been a transformative year for Huddlestock. To see our first European IaaS customer soft launch its investment platform marks a significant milestone for us, as it underpins the strategic path we chose to go for, and it will be a strong reference for future sales in the region" says Leif Arnold Thomas, CEO of Huddlestock.

Throughout the year Huddlestock has announced and carried out a string of strategic initiatives to focus its resources towards a large, underdeveloped, and growing market in continental Europe, with Germany as its first target market.
